IT is not very often that the Specialor speaks upon matters of special interest in China. but it is remarkable, as showing the pains ! taken by that journal to obtain accurate information that it solding treats of a question without making weighty remarks in strict accordance with the facts as known to those bost informed upon them. While the whole of the Press in America and Europe vas going into-ecstacies on account of the vast progress on the part of China shewn by . the Burlingame Missidn, the Speciator took merits. The discovery of some lots of that abombinable compound known as "Maloo Mixture" made people disposed to look with great disfavour upon all Tca that -was manipulated so as to improve its appearance, and hence the subject became a "sensation topic," and people were disposed to i go a great deal further with regard to it than was necessary.
